10 Nov. 43

TO: Office of the Surgeon General, Army Service Forces, War Department, Washington, D.C.

3. a. There was no change in general sanitary conditions as the summer advanced. But in the six weeks before the outbreak we had two outbreaks of diarrhea which were unexplained on the bases of food or illness in food handlers or other demonstrable factors.

Enclosed are carbon copies of the sanitary reports for July and August. Temperature fairly consistent. No rain as usual.

b. No increase in flies but we have battled them all summer and have them pretty well in hand now.

c. No changes in messhall personnel but one new dishwasher was taken on August 8, 1943.

d. 16 August 43 - The day the Poliomyelitis started.
