Dear Dr. MacLeod,

Dr. Sample wrote me that he is forwarding my recent letter which I wrote here to you.

In his reply, he stated that the people who reviewed my proposal program thought it highly worthwhile. However, he also stated that it was suggested that the Public Health Service might supplement my present part to include my typhus studies which I wanted the AFEB to support.

As far as the Public Health Service supplementation of my present part, I would much rather have the work supported by the AFEB. Dr. Mary felt that such an arrangement would be better, and it would put me in contact with my five scientific group, who are also interested in epidemiological work than the Public Health Service grant committee. Another feature that may be more typical work in the Public Health Service is one that is totally different in nature than my previous work, which would include quite a bit of clinical work, besides animal observations.

If it is at all possible, I would very much prefer to have the work supported by the AFEB.

Sincerely yours,

Winston H. Price
