Dear Sir,

I noticed in the June 20, 1944 edition of The New England Sentinel of last year an article about you working on an experiment with gold dust in the treatment of Rheumatism. I wonder if you were successful in it and if you found out anything that will be of relief to people affected with Rheumatism.
is crippled so that he has to stay in bed most of the time. His legs are drawn some. He is bothered mostly by his knees which are enlarged to about twice the normal size.

Please write me if you have any information that will be of help to us. It will be greatly appreciated.

I remain

Sincerely Yours,
