July 16, 1943.

Dear Mr. [Name]:

Your letter of June 8th addressed to Major Albert B. Sabin, c/o The Journal of the American Medical Association, has been forwarded to me for reply.

Major Sabin is now on active duty with the Army without the territorial boundaries of the United States.

The vaccine about which you read in the J.A.M.A. is a preventive vaccine, to be used in the event of epidemics only. It is still in the experimental stage and is not as yet ready for commercial distribution.

Very truly yours,

Secretary to Major Albert B. Sabin, M.C., AUS.
