Dear Dr. Sabin:

I have been giving serious thought to your letter of June 20th, and I hope my delay has not caused you any concern.

After considering this matter very carefully I must express my opinion to the effect that, while this idea is, in general terms, a very interesting one, I doubt that in these times it is readily saleable.

I plan to think more about this matter in the future, and if you have any further thoughts on this subject I should be happy to hear from you.

Please be assured that I am very grateful for your thinking in this matter.

Sincerely yours,

President
