Dear Doctor Sabin:

You will be interested to know our issue of January 1 will contain the abstract of your article on "Status of Oral Poliovirus Vaccine."

Our editorial policy is to present only the most significant of current medical literature. Our editors chose your original article for abstracting because they felt it contained useful information of such importance it deserved to be brought to the attention of as many physicians as possible. Since Modern Medicine goes to all practicing physicians, we are pleased to bring this information to them.

I personally would be very happy to receive any comments or suggestions you may have about our journal, and all of us at Modern Medicine look forward to being of continuing service to you.

Sincerely yours,

Walter C. Alvarez, M.D.
Editor-in-Chief
