Dear Albert:

The especially fine pencil sketch of Peter Olitsky and the brief biographical sketch in the last number of the Rockefeller Institute Review, moves me to write you a note. You and Peter were always so gracious and helpful years ago when I made visits back to the fountainhead. What tremendous changes have occurred at the Institute in the interim. I was overwhelmed when I visited there two summers ago. Warmest greetings to you.

Faithfully yours,

Paul E. Clark
Emeritus Professor of Medical Microbiology
