Dear Albert:

We shall be only too glad to test for you a later sample of serum from your patient, and also samples from your rabbits and guinea pigs inoculated with the virus. Send along all six samples any time that you want. I had better point out at this time, so that there shall be no confusion, that the titers we give are those of the final serum dilutions, that is to say, a titre of 1:120 means that the original serum dilution has been 1:40 and that this diluted a further three fold in the test bringing it up to 1:20. This relationship holds for all the reports that we shall make to you.

We sent off a strain of lymphogranuloma venereum last week. I hope you received it safely, and that it is going well. This is a J.H. strain of which we have done most of our work and I think it should behave in a uniform manner.

Yours sincerely,

G. W. Rake
