June 19, 1939.

Dear Doctor Cattell:

Enclosed herewith is an article entitled
"Mice as carriers of pathogenic pleuropneumonia-like microorganisms with special reference to the attempted isolation of such microorganisms from human rheumatic and rheumatoid exudates and tissues" which I am submitting for publication in Science, because the entire subject has thus far been developed in this Journal. If acceptable, I would greatly appreciate its publication as soon as possible.

Sincerely yours,

Albert B. Sabin

Doctor J. McKeen Cattell,
Science Press,
Grand Central Terminal,
New York City, New York.