Dear Doctor Sabin:

The Questions and Answers Department of The Journal has adopted a new editorial policy as regards processing of answers for publication. Many consultants have suggested that they would be anxious to modify their discussions before these reached galley proof stage. It is easier and more practical to make major revisions in copy than it is to attempt to make these changes on galleys. The enclosed copy is a preliminary effort and only the copy, as revised by you, will be sent to the printer. Galley proofs, therefore, will not be mailed to you before publication. A stamped, self-addressed envelope is provided for your convenience in returning the enclosed copy of the Question and Answer.

Fifty courtesy copies of discussions in Questions and Answers may be obtained by completion of the enclosed form.

Sincerely yours,

Alfred Soffer, M.D.
