Dr. Francis G. Blake,
President,
Bd. for Investigation of Epidemic Diseases in the U. S. Army,
333 Cedar Street,
New Haven, Conn.

Dear Doctor Blake:

A little while ago a number of carbon copies of reports to the Preventive Medicine Service, S.G.O., were sent to you in another envelope.

Unfortunately, I signed one of them before checking it and I would like to ask you to make the following correction which makes a great deal of difference in the sense of the report.

In the report entitled, "Neutralizing Antibodies in Dengue etc.", paragraph 3, the sentence, "Neutralizing antibody against 1,000 human infective doses has not been demonstrated etc.", should read, "has now been demonstrated in the serum of volunteers."

In the same report, in paragraph 6, first line, please read "Additional tests revealed that 3 of the 4 available New Guinea strains etc."

I also hope that you will fail to note that Philippines was misspelled.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

Albert B. Sabin,
Lt. Colonel, M.C.
