Sir,

We have sent you some reprints of our publications in the field of human Leukemia.

We underline the possibility to separate from the leukemic plasma (by means of ion-exchangeresins Chromatography in addition to Electrophoresis) an haegglutinating fraction that is, we think, the most original of our results (other works are related to production of interferon, of antibodies and to the role of Mycoplasmas in Leukemia). Possible connections between our peculiar haemoagglutination and Mycoplasmas are interesting also.

We wouldlike to have ^{your} opinion about our results sure as we are of your kindness.

Yours sincerely:

with the best regards

(Prof. Nevio NIGRO)
