Conservator's Note

This is a map that is a fragment of a larger page, as evidenced by margins of the paper that only contain a partial plate mark. It appears the map was cut out of a larger page. To preserve the map long term, the map was surface cleaned overall with an Absorbene smoke sponge and vinyl erasers to remove accumulated dirt. It was housed in a custom window mat with a back mat that was constructed out of Rising Museum mat board and hinged with Tyvek tape. The original map was mounted loosely within the mat in a polyester sleeve secured with photo corners. A larger surrogate map was created for handling, printed on 8 x 12 inch archival MOAB photomount paper on a P7000 Epson printer. It was stored in a polyester sleeve. A label identifying the surrogate was adhered to the verso of the print with Jade 403 PVA. The matted original and surrogate were housed in an archival blue b-flute board corrugated clamshell.
