Dear Dr. Cole:

Enclosed you find your manuscript which has just been sent to me, either by mistake or by regulation.

I know how discouraging it is to get requests for condensation, particularly of a brief communication, after one has worked over it a good deal. However, I presume the editors are trying to save money because space is expensive, and I would appreciate it very much if you could comply with their request and return the manuscript directly to Dr. Goldforb.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely yours,

ABS/maj
